Re: ODNI FOIA Case No. DF-2017-00275; Knight First Amendment Institute at Columbia University, et al. v. DOD, et al., 18-cv-01129

Dear Mr. Abdo:

This is an interim response to your letter dated May 9, 2017 (Enclosure 1) which was received by the Information Management Division of the Office of the Director of National Intelligence (ODNI) on May 10, 2017. Pursuant to the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) you requested records pertaining to agency prepublication review of writings by certain former government officials. Your request is being processed in accordance with the FOIA (5 U.S.C. § 552).

This is ODNI's first release in response to your FOIA request. Enclosed you will find three responsive records which total 28 pages (Enclosure 2). One of the records is being released in full, and the remaining two records are being released with redactions. The ODNI identified material requiring withholding pursuant to FOIA exemption (b)(3), which applies to information exempt from disclosure by statute. Specifically, the National Security Act of 1947, as amended, protects against disclosure of intelligence sources and methods, including the redacted information in the two records released to you today. See 50 U.S.C. § 3024(i)(1).

In addition, the CIA has determined information within one document must be withheld pursuant to FOIA exemption (b)(6).

We will continue to review and process the remaining potentially responsive documents located in ODNI's search.

If you have any questions, your attorney may contact Attorney Tamra Moore of the Department of Justice at (202) 305-8628.

Sincerely,

Sally A. Nicholson
Chief FOIA
Information Management Division

Expedited Processing Requested

To whom it may concern,

The Knight First Amendment Institute at Columbia University, the American Civil Liberties Union, and the American Civil Liberties Union Foundation (the “Requesters”) submit this request under the Freedom of Information Act (“FOIA”, 5 U.S.C. § 552, for records pertaining to agency prepublication review of writings by certain former government officials. This request is related to one filed on March 3, 2016 by the ACLU and currently being litigated by the Requesters in American Civil Liberties Union v. Central Intelligence Agency, No. 1:16-CV-1256 (D.D.C. filed June 21, 2016).

I. Background

Millions of current and former government employees are prohibited from publishing manuscripts that discuss their government service without first submitting the manuscripts for “pre-publication review.”¹ In recent years, the prepublication-review system has become dysfunctional and politicized, resulting in escalating public and congressional concern.² The dysfunction and politicization of the prepublication-review system raises serious First Amendment concerns.³

¹ See Jack Goldsmith & Oona Hathaway, The Government's Prepublication Review Process Is Broken, Wash. Post, Dec. 25, 2015, <http://wapo.st/1YTgg1j>; Jack Goldsmith & Oona Hathaway, The Scope of the Prepublication Review Problem, and What to Do About It, Lawfare, Dec. 30, 2015, <https://www.lawfareblog.com/scope-prepublication-review-problem-and-what-do-about-it>; Oona Hathaway & Jack Goldsmith, Path Dependence and the Prepublication Review Process, Just Security, Dec. 28, 2015, <https://www.justsecurity.org/28552/pathdependence-prepublication-review-process/>; Oona Hathaway & Jack Goldsmith, More Problems with Prepublication Review, Just Security, Dec. 28, 2015, <https://www.justsecurity.org/28518/problems-prepublication-review/>; Kevin Casey, Note, Till Death Do Us Part: Prepublication Review in the Intelligence Community, 115 Colum. L. Rev. 417 (2015).

² See, e.g., Michael V. Hayden, Playing to the Edge: American Intelligence in the Age of Terror 126 (2016). “Since all of my writing has to be cleared for classification, I dutifully submitted the piece and was told that no articles about drones would be cleared regardless of the content. I actually think that’s a misuse of the review process, but beyond that, it’s just plain stupid.”; see also id. at xii, 121–22.

³ See, e.g., Steven Aftergood, Fixing Pre-Publication Review: What Should Be Done?, JustSecurity, Jan. 15, 2016, <https://www.justsecurity.org/28827/fixing-pre-publication-review-done/> suggesting that the process “has become dysfunctional.

On March 3, 2016, the ACLU sought the release of records relating to the prepublication review procedures of 19 government agencies. That request, attached hereto as Exhibit A, is now the subject of litigation.

Records disclosed in response to the ACLU's earlier FOIA request raise new questions about the way that the prepublication-review process operates in practice. Accordingly, the Requesters now seek additional records.

II. Records requested

The Requesters seek the following records with respect to the individuals listed below:

1. all correspondence between the government and any of the individuals listed below relating to the prepublication review or publication of material intended to be or actually published in their personal capacities;
2. all inter- and intra-agency correspondence relating to the prepublication review or publication of material by any of the individuals listed below that was intended to be or actually was published by any of those individuals in their personal capacities;
3. all records reflecting decisions – interim, final, and after appeal – related to the prepublication review of material published by any of the individuals listed below in their personal capacities.

We seek the above records with respect to the individuals listed below. We ask that you give priority to the processing of records relating to the publications listed underneath each named individual:

Where a document contains information that falls into one or more of the categories described above, we seek the entirety of that document. If processing the entirety of a given document would be unusually burdensome, we ask that you give us an opportunity to narrow our request. Please disclose all segregable portions of otherwise exempt records. See 5 U.S.C. § 552(b).

We ask that you provide responsive electronic records in their native file format. See 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(3)(B).

III. Application for Expedited Processing

The Requesters seek expedited processing pursuant to 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(6)(E). There is a “compelling need” for the documents sought because the information they contain is “urgent[ly]” needed by an organization primarily engaged in disseminating information “to inform the public about actual or alleged Federal Government activity.” 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(6)(E)(v)(II).

A. The Requesters are primarily engaged in disseminating information in order to inform the public about actual or alleged government activity.

The Requesters are “primarily engaged in disseminating information” within the meaning of FOIA, 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(6)(E)(v)(II).

The Knight First Amendment Institute is a newly established organization at Columbia University dedicated to defending and strengthening the freedoms of speech and the press in the digital age. Research and public education are essential to the Institute’s mission. Obtaining information about government activity, analyzing that information, and publishing and disseminating it to the press and public are among the core activities the Institute was established to perform. See, e.g., among others, ACLU v. DOJ, 321 F. Supp. 2d 24, 29 n.5 (D.D.C. 2004) (finding non-profit public interest group that “gathers information of potential interest to a segment of the public, uses its editorial skills to turn the raw material into a distinct work, and distributes that work to an audience” to be “primarily engaged in disseminating information”).

The ACLU is similarly “primarily engaged in disseminating information” within the meaning of FOIA. Obtaining information about government activity, analyzing that information, and widely publishing and disseminating that information to the press and public are critical and substantial components of the ACLU’s work and are among its primary activities. *See id.*⁴

The ACLU regularly publishes STAND, a print magazine that reports on and analyzes civil liberties-related current events. The magazine is disseminated to over 620,000 people. The ACLU also publishes regular updates and alerts via email to over 2.6 million subscribers (both ACLU members and non-members). These updates are additionally broadcast to over 3.2 million social media followers. The magazine as well as the email and social-media alerts often include descriptions and analysis of information obtained through FOIA requests.

The ACLU also regularly issues press releases to call attention to documents obtained through FOIA requests, as well as other breaking news,⁵ and ACLU attorneys are interviewed frequently for news stories about documents released through ACLU FOIA requests.⁶

⁴ Courts have found that the ACLU as well as other organizations with similar missions that engage in information-dissemination activities similar to the ACLU are “primarily engaged in disseminating information.” See, e.g., Leadership Conference on Civil Rights v. Gonzalez, 404 F. Supp. 2d 246, 260 (D.D.C. 2005); ACLU, 321 F. Supp. 2d at 29 n.5; Elec. Privacy Info. Ctr. v. DOD, 241 F. Supp. 2d 5, 11 (D.D.C. 2003).

Similarly, the ACLU publishes reports about government conduct and civil liberties issues based on its analysis of information derived from various sources, including information obtained from the government through FOIA requests. This material is broadly circulated to the public and widely available to everyone for no cost or, sometimes, for a small fee. ACLU national projects regularly publish and disseminate reports that include a description and analysis of government documents obtained through FOIA requests.⁷ The ACLU also regularly publishes books, “know your rights” materials, fact sheets, and educational brochures and pamphlets designed to educate the public about civil liberties issues and government policies that implicate civil rights and liberties.

The ACLU publishes a widely read blog where original editorial content reporting on and analyzing civil rights and civil liberties news is posted daily. See <https://www.aclu.org/blog>. The ACLU creates and disseminates original editorial and educational content on civil rights and civil liberties news through multi-media projects, including videos, podcasts, and interactive features. See <https://www.aclu.org/multimedia>. The ACLU also publishes, analyzes, and disseminates information through its heavily visited website, www.aclu.org. The website addresses civil rights and civil liberties issues in depth, provides features on civil rights and civil liberties issues in the news, and contains many thousands of documents relating to the issues on which the ACLU is focused. The ACLU’s website also serves as a clearinghouse for news about ACLU cases, as well as analysis about case developments, and an archive of case-related documents. Through these pages, and with respect to each specific civil liberties issue, the ACLU provides the public with educational material, recent news, analyses of relevant Congressional or executive branch action, government documents obtained through FOIA requests, and further in-depth analytic and educational multi-media features.

The ACLU website includes many features on information obtained through the FOIA.⁵ For example, the ACLU’s “Predator Drones FOIA” webpage, <https://www.aclu.org/national-security/predator-drones-foia>, contains commentary about the ACLU's FOIA request, press releases, analysis of the FOIA documents, numerous blog posts on the issue, documents related to litigation over the FOIA request, frequently asked questions about targeted killing, and links to the documents themselves. Similarly, the ACLU maintains an online "Torture Database," a compilation of over 100,000 pages of FOIA documents that allows researchers and the public to conduct sophisticated searches of FOIA documents relating to government policies on rendition, detention, and interrogation.⁹

The ACLU has also published a number of charts and explanatory materials that collect, summarize, and analyze information it has obtained through the FOIA. For example, through compilation and analysis of information gathered from various sources including information obtained from the government through FOIA requests, the ACLU created an original chart that provides the public and news media with a comprehensive summary index of Bush-era Office of Legal Counsel memos relating to interrogation, detention, rendition, and surveillance.¹⁰ Similarly, the ACLU produced an analysis of documents released in response to a FOIA request about the TSA's behavior detection program¹¹; a summary of documents released in response to a FOIA request related to the FISA Amendments Act¹²; a chart of original statistics about the Defense Department's use of National Security Letters based on its own analysis of records obtained through FOIA requests¹³; and an analysis of documents obtained through FOIA requests about FBI surveillance flights over Baltimore.¹⁴

The Requesters plan to analyze, publish, and disseminate to the public the information gathered through this request at no cost.

B. The records sought are urgently needed to inform the public about actual or alleged government activity.

The documents sought are urgently needed to inform the public about actual or alleged government activity. See 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(6)(E)(v)(II).

While agencies' pre-publication regulations are in part public, the implementation of those regulations is almost entirely invisible outside the government. The records requested here are urgently needed to allow the public to better understand the way the regulations are implemented, and to enable it to evaluate whether agencies' prepublication-review processes are effective and fair. The records would also allow the public to better understand the lawfulness of agencies' activity on a matter that closely relates to fundamental rights and gives room for abuse of discretion, impacting public trust in government. The effectiveness, fairness, and lawfulness of the prepublication-review process is a matter of significant public interest and ongoing media attention.¹⁵

For these reasons, the Requesters are entitled to expedited processing.

IV. Application for Waiver or Limitation of Fees

The Requesters seek a waiver of document search, review, and duplication fees on the grounds that disclosure of the requested records is in the public interest and that disclosure is “likely to contribute significantly to the public understanding of the operations or activities of the government and is not primarily in the commercial interest of the requester.” 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(4)(A)(iii).

For the reasons explained above, disclosure of the records would be in the public interest. Moreover, disclosure would not further the Requesters’ commercial interests. The requesters will make any information disclosed available to the public at no cost. Thus, a fee waiver would fulfill Congress’s legislative intent in amending FOIA to ensure “that it be liberally construed in favor of waivers for noncommercial requesters.” See Judicial Watch, Inc. v. Rossotti, 326 F.3d 1309, 1312 (D.C. Cir. 2003).

The Knight Institute also requests a waiver of search and review fees on the grounds that it qualifies as an “educational . . . institution” whose purposes include “scholarly . . . research” and the records are not sought for commercial use. 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(4)(A)(ii)(II). The Institute has a substantial educational mission. Situated within a prominent academic research university, the Institute will perform scholarly research on the application of the First Amendment in the digital era. The Institute is in the midst of inaugurating a research program that will bring together academics and practitioners of different disciplines to study contemporary First Amendment issues and offer informed, non-partisan commentary and solutions. It will publish that commentary in many forms—in scholarly publications, in long-form reports, and in short-form essays.

The Requesters also request a waiver of search and review fees on the grounds that they are “representative[s] of the news media” within the meaning of FOIA and the records are not sought for commercial use. 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(4)(A)(ii)(II).

The Requesters each meet the statutory definition of a “representative of the news media” because each “gathers information of potential interest to a segment of the public, uses its editorial skills to turn the raw materials into a distinct work, and distributes that work to an audience.” 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(4)(A)(ii); see also Natl Sec. Archive v. DOD, 880 F.2d 1381, 1387 (D.C. Cir. 1989) (finding that an organization that gathers information, exercises editorial discretion in selecting and organizing documents, “devises indices and finding aids,” and “distributes the resulting work to the public” is a “representative of the news media” for purposes of the FOIA); accord Serv. Women’s Action Network v. DOD, 888 F. Supp. 2d 282 (D. Conn. 2012);

ACLU of Wash. v. DOJ, No. 09-0642RSL, 2011 WL 887731, at *10 (W.D. Wash. Mar. 10, 2011); ACLU, 321 F. Supp. 2d at 30 n.5. Courts have found other non-profit organizations, whose mission of research and public education is similar to that of the requesters, to be “representatives of the news media.” See, e.g., Cause of Action v. IRS, No. 13-0920, 2015 WL 5120863 (D.C. Cir. Aug. 28, 2015); Elec. Privacy Info. Ctr., 241 F. Supp. 2d at 10-15 (finding non-profit group that disseminated an electronic newsletter and published books was a “representative of the news media” for purposes of the FOIA); Nat’l Sec. Archive, 880 F.2d at 1387; Judicial Watch, Inc. v. DOJ, 133 F. Supp. 2d 52, 53–54 (D.D.C. 2000) (finding Judicial Watch, self-described as a “public interest law firm,” a news media requester).

For these reasons, the Requesters are entitled to a fee waiver.

I've marked in red the items you haven't seen. Defer to you as to whether you want to share it with CIA PRB. As far as I can tell, all of the authors are overt.

I'll be sending you an updated intro and dedication to More Stories From Langley. I've asked my authors to separately send their More Stories From Langley chapters to CIA PRB; it's been a year since I sent CIA PRB the compilation version.

Entries in Black have been approved by PRB.

Entries in Red are new material for PRB review.

Good afternoon PDB,

I may have initially sent this to a much wider audience than I intended...sorry about that!

The former DNI is writing a book based on his experiences in the government.
Attached is the excerpt he intends to send to a publisher to see if they are willing to work with him.

He makes multiple references to specific PDBs and process, starting around page 180.

Please review for any PDB specific sensitivities that are not public knowledge.

Do not circulate this book beyond anyone with a PDB need to review and comment.
Any dissemination outside of a mission need could constitute copy write infringement and subject the ODNI to penalties or lawsuit.

We'd greatly appreciate a response no later than 18 October.

Thank you!
